Executive Summary

Services for Children provides case management services for approximately 1600 children (birth to 21) with developmental and often multiple disabilities requiring significant care. Most live with family, and a primary goal is to prevent out-of-home placement. Case management links children and their families with sources of help in the community. State-funded Family Support services are used to meet additional needs as funds are available. Services for Children also partners with State Child Welfare Services, as well as Regional Crisis Diversion.

Program Description

Children's case management is child-centered and family-focused. Creative involvement of friends, family, neighbors, and other neighborhood resources and family support groups are essential for allowing the child to remain in the home. As a child approaches 18 (or 21 if still in school), planning is done for the individual's ongoing support as an adult.

Program Justification

Services for Children exists to help children with developmental disabilities; the program partners with state and local organizations. Child-centered planning helps identify the customer's interests, focuses on strengths, promotes independence and self-worth, and maps out friends and family as potential resource people. The program strengthens families and lowers costs by linking customers to community supports and public assistance, reducing reliance on costly and disruptive out-of-home care. As a result, this program supports the County's "Poverty Elimination" framework, ensuring family focus and commitment to critical safety supports for County.

Services for Children has been reconfigured to reflect the restructured services of the Division. The above figures for 2006-07 best represent last year's offer put into the new configuration to provide the reader with more comparable figures across the two years. New enrollments exceed terminations by about ten customers per month, the majority of which are children. With new State funds that tie revenue with the growth in number of clients, Division was able to add three permanent children's case managers.

Across all DSDD program offers there is a net increase of 2.8FTE reflected in the FY08 budget request, funded by the State for case management.
