Executive Summary

The rate of mental illness among those incarcerated is two to three times higher than among the general population (Roskes and Feldman 1999). These offenders eventually leave prison or jail and are then supervised in the community, bringing with them a variety of mental health and chronic medical issues. Research indicates that these offenders are likely to have continued contact with the corrections system. The Department of Community Justice (DCJ) provides funding for services that assist Parole/Probation Officers (PPO) in their work with over 270 adult mentally ill offenders annually. This work is essential for stabilizing and decreasing recidivism rates for this specific population and is always coordinated in collaboration with other community-based treatment.

Program Description

Mental Health Services (MHS) helps PPOs access necessary resources for severe and persistent mentally ill adult offenders. Special limited services that benefit this target population are not available without DCJ assistance. MHS provides the following contracted services:

- 1) Mental Health Evaluations -- To determine the best way to achieve supervision compliance for offenders who pose a serious risk to the community, and to identify/determine severity of mental illness;
- 2) Three contracted staff to work with 60 offenders at any one time -- To prepare offenders for community treatment by providing crisis stabilization, access to emergency mental health care and access to basic living needs;
- 3) One psychiatric nurse practitioner -- To provide prescription services; and
- 4) Fifteen residential beds of Dual Diagnosis -- To provide treatment for male offenders who have not been successful in alternate treatment modalities, or who have mental health symptoms that are too severe for less specialized treatment providers.

This program supports public safety by providing a continuum of social services to high and medium risk offenders who require assistance in accessing services. Without these services, many of these offenders would remain unstabilized and would likely return to jail on supervision violations and/or new criminal charges.
