Executive Summary

Studies have shown that if young people can successfully leave a gang within a year or two of joining, they are likely to avoid a variety of negative life outcomes, including chronic reoffending (Greene and Pranis 2007). The Resource Intervention Services to Empower Unit (RISE) supervises approximately 200 high risk, gang-involved offenders annually. RISE's work promotes public safety by reducing juvenile crime, preventing disproportionate numbers of minority youth from entering a correctional facility, and assisting high risk youth of color to change their lives.

Program Description

The Resource Intervention Services to Empower Unit (RISE) provides probation supervision to high risk, gang-involved offenders using strategies that are tailored to each youth's issues, strengths, needs, culture and environmental influences. Public safety requires diverse community collaboration. RISE is an integral member of the Community Healing Initiative (CHI) which is grant funded. This grant funded project uses an inter-disciplinary approach to develop and implement plans for positive youth development, family support and community protection. RISE also partners with the police, Adult Parole/Probation Officers (PPO) and the community to gather intelligence that helps dismantle gang activity. In partnership with the CHI interdisciplinary team, Juvenile Court Counselors (JCC) develop probation case plans that establish enforceable expectations and address victim restitution. Along with holding gang youth accountable through specialized supervision and sanctions, Juvenile Counselors coordinate treatment (e.g. mental health and drug abuse) and interventions designed to address anti-social behavior. Skill building, mentoring, educational advocacy and the incorporation of positive age appropriate activities are all used to counter gang involvement.

Gang activity continues to be a major concern in Multnomah County. RISE focuses on the highest risk offenders by utilizing Functional Family Probation Services (FFPS), an evidence-based case management model that has proven results in reducing recidivism and promoting accountability among juvenile offenders. Interventions that take place in this program include: intensive family-based counseling, specialized youth treatment, culturally appropriate services, employment training opportunities, positive peer influences, and community support systems.

This program offer also provides for contracted Intercept Program services, a comprehensive, holistic and intensive array of services provided to the families and medium-to-high risk youth involved in the juvenile justice system as an alternative to or a diversion from out-of-home placement such as foster care, residential treatment centers, or detention.
